

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL
memorandum

TO: The Commission

FROM: Jacob Lewis
Acting Deputy General Counsel

SUBJECT: Briefs and Arguments Scheduled for March and April 2022

DATE: March 1, 2022

BRIEFS SCHEDULED TO BE FILED

March 17, 2022	China Telecom (Ams.) Corp. v. FCC , No. 21-1233 (D.C. Cir.). Challenge to the Commission's order revoking and terminating China Telecom's authorizations to provide international and domestic telecommunications in the United States, pursuant to Section 214, based on the determination that China Telecom posed a serious threat to national security.
April 1, 2022	Wide Voice, LLC v. FCC , No. 21-71375 (9th Cir.). Challenge to the Commission's order finding that Wide Voice violated access stimulation rules and ordering a refund.
April 25, 2022	CORETEL v. FCC , No. 21-3170 (3rd Cir.). Challenge to tariff investigation order in which the Commission found unlawful portions of an intermediate provider's tariff for toll-free access charges.
April 27, 2022	Consumers' Rsch. v. FCC , No. 22-60008 (5th Cir.). Challenge to the FCC's adoption of a universal service contribution factor for the first quarter of 2022. (Motion for abeyance pending.)

ORAL ARGUMENTS SCHEDULED TO BE HEARD

April 12, 2022

Nat'l Ass'n of Broad. v. FCC, No. 21-1171 (D.C. Cir.). Challenge to broadcaster disclosure requirements for programming leased by foreign government entities and agents.